MEMORANDUM NO. 1205

Iron and Steel Scrap for Maximum Steel Production

The Department has received the following letter from the Honorable John R. Steelman, the Assistant to the President:

"The current shortage of iron and steel scrap and the outlook for this winter seriously threaten the maintenance of maximum steel production. Such maximum production is essential to curb inflation and to support our foreign aid program as well as the domestic economy.

"Agencies of the Federal Government have already made substantial amounts of scrap available through prompt disposal of surplus plants, equipment, materials, and ships. However, every ton of additional scrap counts in the present situation.

"The President has therefore asked me to discuss with you further contributions which your agency might make, and to request that you review your program concerning standby facilities, maintenance of resources and stocks of materials and equipment with a view to making more scrap available now. Scrap generated from normal operations should also be moved promptly to market.

"I would appreciate your personal effort to attempt to make maximum amounts of scrap available now and during the next few months."

Through the cooperation of all agencies in the continuing policy of disposing of equipment and materials not needed for use in the work of the Department, undoubtedly much scrap has been placed in channels where it has^{aided} or will aid in the production of steel. However, if we are to make the maximum contribution to this current drive, it will be necessary to carry out an even more determined and thorough search of shops, offices, and other locations for undiscovered scrap, obsolete equipment or materials, and any other items that may yield iron or steel scrap. Such scrap should then be placed in line for immediate disposal under existing rules for disposition of such property.

Even though the amount of scrap at any one location might seem small in itself, the total of such small lots from all the many offices of the Department should make a worthwhile contribution.

In this connection, whenever an opportunity arises, farmers should be encouraged to collect and sell scrap iron and steel.

The full cooperation of all agencies in this matter is requested.

Iron and Steel Scrap for Maximum Steel Production

The Department has received the following letter from the Honorable John A. Steinhilber, the Assistant to the President:

"The current shortage of iron and steel scrap and the outlook for this winter seriously threaten the maintenance of maximum steel production. Such maximum production is essential to our inflation and to support our foreign aid program as well as the domestic economy.

"Various of the Federal Government have already made substantial amounts of scrap available through grant disposal of surplus plants, equipment, materials, and ships. However, every ton of additional scrap counts in the present situation.

"I would appreciate your personal effort to attempt to make maximum amounts of scrap available now and during the next few months."

Through the cooperation of all agencies in the continuing policy of disposing of equipment and materials not needed for use in the work of the Department, undoubtedly much scrap has been placed in channels where it can be sold in the production of steel. U. S. D. A. 1
MEMORANDUM NO. 1206

Transfer of Regulations

1. As a result of the codification of the Administrative Regulations, U. S. Department of Agriculture, effective March 8, 1948, a number of sources were declared obsolete. (See Amendment No. 1 of the Administrative Regulations for a list of these sources.) The "USDA Regulations" was one of the sources declared obsolete in entirety. However, 9 paragraphs of the USDA Regulations are not obsolete and have not as yet been codified.

2. This Memorandum serves to transfer the following regulations to the Secretary's Memorandum Series and to continue them in effect until they are incorporated in the Administrative Regulations in the near future:

1421. Uniform Project System. To promote the effective coordination of the activities of the Department, to aid in precluding unnecessary duplication, and in order that the Secretary may be kept fully informed at all times regarding the work being carried on, each bureau and office of the Department shall file with the Office of the Secretary uniform project statements covering in detail the work under its jurisdiction. These statements will be prepared in accordance with the manual of instructions, as issued by the Department and as supplemented from time to time. They shall be kept current and shall be supplemented by annual and other reports as specified in the manual of instructions. The permanent record file of the project statements of all bureaus and offices shall be kept in the office of budget and finance. Each bureau also shall maintain at least one complete and current file of its uniform projects. Bureau chiefs are required to see that there are filed in some readily accessible place sufficient data regarding each project under their supervision to enable them to furnish, whenever called upon, adequate information regarding its status and progress. The uniform project system will form the basis of the Department's program of work, and the annual budget estimates of the Department will be prepared on the basis of these projects. The file of projects of all bureaus and offices maintained in the Office of Budget and Finance will be freely available for general reference. In furtherance of the policy of coordination, the Department encourages the use of the Project System, for reference purposes, by administrative officers and research workers of the various bureaus so that they may be familiar at all times with the work of the entire Department, especially of bureaus and offices working in the same or closely related fields.

1422. New Work. A bureau or office contemplating any new work not adequately described in a previously approved current uniform project shall submit a new or an amended project covering such work, through the Office of Budget and Finance, for advance approval of the Secretary and for submission, when necessary, of a report to the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to Budget Circulars No. 77 and No. 337. The proposed new work shall be submitted in writing either as (1) a new financial project; (2) a new work project; or (3) as additional work proposed under an existing financial or work project. New financial and work projects shall be submitted on the appropriate project forms. The information on new work submitted under any of the three above-mentioned categories should state (a) the perspective, object, and plan of the work; (b) an estimate of the cost thereof for the fiscal year in which the work is begun and of the probable total cost; (c) the probable number of persons to be employed thereupon during the fiscal year in which the work is begun and an estimate of their salaries; (d) whether the project will require an additional allotment of funds to carry on the proposed new work, and if so, the source of the funds; and (e) whether or not the work is required by law, and if so, the specific law or laws involved. These data will be reviewed to determine the desirability of the undertaking proposed, its possible relation to the work of any other bureau or department, and the propriety of its being conducted as an activity of the Department of Agriculture.

1431. Budget Estimates. Estimates of appropriations required for the work of each bureau shall be submitted by the chiefs thereof for consideration and action by the Secretary as prescribed by law and by the requirements of the Department, the Bureau of the Budget and the Congress.

Special instructions will be issued by the Bureau of the Budget and by the Department's budget officer indicating the form and detail in which the estimates shall be prepared.

In preparing such estimates the chief of each bureau should have in mind at all times the need for economy in Government expenditures. Each project should be carefully considered to determine whether further expenditures are justified, whether the project might not be discontinued and the appropriation decreased without detriment to the public interest, or whether the funds might not be transferred to more promising or more urgently needed lines of work.

New proposals and increases should be explained in clear and concise statements prepared in such manner as readily to permit their individual consideration and approval or disapproval. These explanatory notes should for reference purposes, by administrative officers and research workers of the various bureaus so that they may be familiar at all times with the work of the entire Department, especially of bureaus and offices working in the same or closely related fields.

11.32. New Work. A bureau or office contemplating any new work not adequately described in a previously approved current uniform project shall submit a new or an amended project covering such work, through the Office of Budget and Finance, for advance approval of the Secretary and for submission, when necessary, of a report to the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to Budget Circulars No. 77 and No. 237. The proposed new work shall be submitted in writing either as (1) a new financial project; (2) a new work project; or (3) as additional work proposed under an existing financial or work project. New financial and work projects shall be submitted on the appropriate project forms. The information on new work submitted under any of the three above-mentioned categories should state (a) the perspective, object, and plan of the work; (b) an estimate of the cost thereof for the fiscal year in which the work is begun and of the probable total cost; (c) the probable number of persons to be employed thereupon during the fiscal year in which the work is begun and an estimate of their salaries; (d) whether the project will require an additional allotment of funds to carry on the proposed new work, and if so, the source of the funds; and (e) whether or not the work is required by law, and if so, the specific law or laws involved. These data will be reviewed to determine the desirability of the undertaking proposed, its possible relation to the work of any other bureau or department, and the propriety of its being conducted as an activity of the Department of Agriculture.

11.31. Budget Estimates. Estimates of appropriations required for the work of each bureau shall be submitted by the chiefs thereof for consideration and action by the Secretary as prescribed by law and by the requirements of the Department, the Bureau of the Budget and the Congress.

Special instructions will be issued by the Bureau of the Budget and by the Department's budget officer indicating the form and detail in which the estimates shall be prepared.

In preparing such estimates the chief of each bureau should have in mind at all times the need for economy in Government expenditures. Each project should be carefully considered to determine whether further expenditures are justified, whether the project might not be discontinued and the appropriation decreased without detriment to the public interest, or whether the funds might not be transferred to more promising or more urgently needed lines of work.

New proposals and increases should be explained in clear and concise statements prepared in such manner as readily to permit their individual consideration and approval or disapproval. These explanatory notes should indicate clearly and specifically the need for the increase and exactly how it is proposed to use the additional funds requested; in other words, show the basis for the recommendation, including detail as to increased personnel, travel, equipment, or other objects of expenditure.

Items covering work in fields in which other bureaus of this Department or of other departments also are working or should be working or for which they may also be seeking funds should be coordinated with the estimates of such other agencies prior to their submission to the Secretary.

It is important that proposed new items of appropriation or changes in existing items be so phrased as to express in unequivocal terms what the Department plans to do. Chiefs of bureaus should avail themselves of the services of the solicitor to determine whether the estimates, if adopted by Congress and enacted into law, are legally sufficient to accomplish the intended purposes. (1630, 1636, 1637, 1713, 1714, 1715, 1716, 1717, 1724)

1432. Financial Statements for Congress. All financial statements called for from time to time by Congress or any committee or member thereof will be handled through the director of finance. (102, 1635)

1433. Annual Reports of Agricultural Experiment Stations and Cooperative Agricultural Extension Work. There shall be submitted to the office of the Secretary annually, as soon after November 1 as possible, the following reports prepared in triplicate:

(a) By the chief of the Office of Experiment Stations, a report of the work and expenditures of the agricultural experiment stations in the several States and Territories, whether the appropriation of any State or Territory has been withheld and, if so, the reasons therefor.

(b) By the director of extension work, a report of the receipts, expenditures, and results of the cooperative agricultural extension work of the Department and of agricultural colleges in the several States and Territories receiving the benefits of the funds provided under the Smith-Lever Act; whether the appropriation of any State or Territory has been withheld and, if so, the reasons therefor. (481, 498, 533)

2112. Appointment of Employees Paid from Emergency Funds. All appointments and reappointments made by the several executive departments, independent establishments, and emergency agencies, the salaries in connection with which are paid from emergency funds as distinguished from the appropriations for the regular activities of the Government, shall be made and specifically designated as either temporary or emergency appointments and in the case of emergency appointments shall be expressly limited as to the duration thereof to a period not extending beyond the expiration of the emergency appropriation from which such salaries are paid.

Items covering work in fields in which other bureaus of this Department or of other departments also are working or should be working or for which they may also be seeking funds should be coordinated with the estimates of such other agencies prior to their submission to the Secretary.

It is important that proposed new items of appropriation or changes in existing items be so phrased as to express in unequivocal terms what the Department plans to do. The leaflet sheet suggests suggestions which have proved interesting and appropriate for agricultural groups. I hope that this plan and other Departmental units, as well as groups of these people associated with workers of this Department, again will take occasion to observe Pan American Day on April 30.

MEMORANDUM No. 1207

Pan American Day

Many of this Department's activities translate into practical realities the spirit of Pan American Day, which on April 14 will celebrate the founding in 1890 of the Pan American Union to serve the cause of mutual understanding and cooperation among the nations of the Western Hemisphere. The theme this year is "The Americas Must Serve Mankind".

It is appropriate, therefore, that members of this Department's staff again should join in observance of Pan American Day, and should assist farm people with whom they work in carrying out observances stressing the agricultural aspects of Inter-American cooperation.

In view of the fact that more than half of the Western Hemisphere's people are engaged in agriculture, it is not strange that inter-American cooperation in agriculture is an important part of the Good Neighbor policy. Agriculture provides much of the subject matter for the study of scientists throughout the Western Hemisphere. It has motivated the development of many important public institutions and services in all of the Americas. In the other American Republics, as in the United States, national leaders and patriots have sprung from rural backgrounds, and rural life is woven through the literature, the art, and the folkways of all American peoples.

A brief fact sheet is enclosed on the agricultural aspects of inter-American cooperation and of Pan American Day. The fact sheet suggests observances which have proved interesting and appropriate for agricultural groups. I hope that USDA clubs and other Departmental units, as well as groups of farm people associated with workers of this Department, again will take occasion to observe Pan American Day on April 14.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY

Re: American Soy

That of this Department's activities regarding the production of soybeans in the United States, which in 1933 is estimated to be about 100,000 bushels, is being increased to 1,000,000 bushels in 1934. The Department is now planning to increase the production of soybeans in the United States to 1,000,000 bushels in 1934.

It is suggested that the Department should take steps to increase the production of soybeans in the United States. This could be done by increasing the number of acres planted in soybeans, by increasing the yield per acre, or by both of these methods.

It is also suggested that the Department should take steps to increase the demand for soybeans in the United States. This could be done by increasing the use of soybeans in food and other products, or by both of these methods.

A brief statement of the Department's activities in the production of soybeans in the United States is given in the accompanying report. It is suggested that the Department should take steps to increase the production of soybeans in the United States.

Very truly yours,
C. E. Smith

AGRICULTURE IN THE AMERICAS

A Fact Sheet on Pan American Day

Of the 21 American Republics which constitute the Pan American Union five are wholly or mainly in temperate zones; the other 16 are largely tropical or semi-tropical.

Thus, while producing some of the same farm products for sale in world markets as the United States, the Latin American countries also produce indispensable agricultural products complementing ours, such as coffee, cocoa, bananas, quinine, insecticides, condiments, fibers and rubber. In return, we send Latin America farm and industrial products from virtually every state.

In the case of farm products which both the U. S. and Latin America produce, cooperation is increasing the food supply in Latin American countries and has also taken the form of conference-table efforts to agree on means of expanding and stabilizing markets. In the production of complementary crops, the U. S. is cooperating with Latin American countries in action programs of technical collaboration designed to increase production through the adoption of improved agricultural practices and introduction of better varieties.

The agricultural technical collaboration is carried on through the U. S. Department of Agriculture as part of the program of the Interdepartmental Committee on Scientific and Cultural Cooperation. (The article, "Agricultural Cooperation with the American Republics", page 7 in the enclosed publication, describes this program in detail.)

The Pan American Union, with its Division of Agricultural Cooperation has been responsible for much inter-American cooperation in agriculture, including the holding of three inter-American conferences on agriculture. The Union is sponsoring an Inter-American Conference on Conservation of Renewable Natural Resources beginning September 7 in Denver. The Inter-American Institute of Agricultural Sciences at Turrialba, Costa Rica, organized in 1942 under auspices of the Union, helps develop agricultural research, teaching and extension activities in the Americas.

In Cuba, the 5-C Clubs and in Venezuela the 5-V Clubs, and similar youth groups getting under way in other countries follow programs similar to those of the 4-H Clubs of farm youth in the United States.

The United States and almost all the other American Republics are members of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, pledged to mutual efforts for improvement in food and agriculture, and in rural welfare.

Suggested Activities for Pan American Day

In local meetings, radio programs and publicity, USDA and cooperating personnel might use the theme of inter-American agricultural cooperation; for instance, a Home Demonstration Agent's column might feature Spanish-style menus.

4-H Clubs, Home Demonstration Clubs, USDA Clubs, etc., might draw upon Pan American customs, songs, dances for program material.

Program Helps for Pan American Day Observance

In some cases, Latin American trainees with USDA agencies may be able to participate in local programs. This Fact Sheet furnishes speech-facts. Many libraries will feature Latin American book-lists. Motion picture films on Latin America, many stressing agriculture, may be borrowed from USDA film depositories through regular channels. A new film strip, Cosechas de las Americas (Crops of the Americas) will be available about April 1 through usual Extension Service channels.

While available, the following materials furnished by the Pan American Union, may be obtained as a "kit" or as separate pieces, for background educational use. Extension Service requests will be handled through usual channels. Others should write the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

1. Poster, 19x25", colors, "The Americas Must Serve Mankind".
2. Program Aids, booklet listing flags, maps, pictures, music, etc., and where and how to obtain them.
3. Suggestions for Pan American Clubs, booklet telling how to organize clubs and suggesting activities and programs.
4. Manual for Students and Teachers, booklet of skits, songs, dances, suitable for schools, 4-H Clubs, etc.
5. House of the Americas, a radio program for Pan American Day.
6. Blue Blood, a 3-act comedy suitable for Pan American Day amateur players.
7. Coffee, the Story of a Good Neighbor Product, booklet with colored illustrations, for school projects, of interest to 4-H Club age group.

MEMORANDUM TO HEADS OF ADMINISTRATIONS, BUREAUS AND OFFICES

Security Loan Campaign - U. S. Savings Bonds Become U. S. Security Bonds

"Inflation" is our peace time enemy. By promoting savings we can fight inflation. One cause of inflation is too much money in the market to purchase the amount of goods produced. This forces prices up and then subsistence salaries are not adequate. It is a vicious circle. One answer is to hold back on spending our money, which should lead eventually to greater personal purchasing power, plus SECURITY.

There is no safer, surer investment today than U. S. Savings Bonds (Security Bonds). The yield (with safety) is excellent. The Series E Bond for small investors is truly "The Peoples' Bond". Its value is guaranteed. Its yield is sure. It is one investment upon which no one can lose. The Government through its payroll savings program has made it easy for every Federal employee to provide security for himself or his family in the simplest way possible. He controls the amount he saves merely by signing a card. The bookkeeping and all the incidentals are taken care of for him and the bonds are handed or delivered to him as "Take Home Savings".

The Treasury Department and our Government, recognizing the effects of inflation and knowing the cause as well as the cure, are organizing a nationwide "Security Loan Campaign."

Purpose - To sell more savings bonds to more Americans in the interest of a stabilized economy.

Slogan - "America's Security is your Security".

Time - April 15 through June 30, 1948.

Cooperation - Industry, farm leaders, labor, retailers, radio, newspapers, magazines, banking and business.

Effect - Safeguard the nation's economic strength by:

1. Withdrawing money in competition for goods and services in short supply from consumer markets.
2. Shifting public debt from banks to the public.

STABILITY OF INVESTMENT, DEBT, AND CREDIT

Security Loan Campaign - U. S. Savings Bonds, U. S. Treasury Bonds

"Inflation" is not peace time enemy. By promoting savings we can fight inflation. One cause of inflation is too much money in the market. This forces prices up and then purchases the amount of goods produced. It is a vicious circle. The Government's solution is not to increase the money supply, which would lead eventually to greater personal purchasing power, thus inflation.

There is no sales, lower investment, lower than U. S. Savings Bonds (Security Bonds). The yield (with safety) is excellent. The value is good for small investors is truly "no capital loss". Its value is guaranteed. Its yield is sure. It is one investment upon which no one can lose. The Government through its official savings program has made it easy for every citizen to provide security for himself or his family in the simplest way possible. He contributes his money in small sums by signing a card. The bookkeeping and all the details are taken care of for him and the money is mailed or delivered to him as "tax and savings".

The Treasury Department and our Government recognizing the effects of inflation and knowing the cause as well as the cure are organizing a nationwide "Security Loan Campaign".

Purpose - To sell more savings bonds to more Americans in the interest of a stabilized economy.

Slogan - "America's Security is your security".

Effect - Safeguard the nation's economic strength by:

1. withdrawing money in competition for goods and services in short supply from consumer markets.

2. shifting funds from the hands of the public.

3. Affording more people safe - sure - profitable investments.
4. Increasing family security.
5. Providing - "Take Home Savings".
6. Relieving inflationary pressures.
7. Uniting the small investors in a formidable economic group.
(Formidable because millions saving regularly become extremely important in our economic program.)

Goal - 100% solicitation of employees on the Department's payrolls.
Tactful persistence by your bond organization to see that every employee who possibly can is urged to participate in the "Payroll Savings Plan" by allotting a portion of his income to his own "Future Security" and the "Security of the Nation".

MY PERSONAL REQUEST

1. Revitalize your bond organization.
2. Take a personal interest in this program.
3. Encourage your employees to participate.
4. Designate an effective Bureau Bond Chairman.
5. SEE THAT EVERYONE IN YOUR ORGANIZATION IS CALLED UPON TO MAKE A DECISION.
 - a. To participate in the payroll savings plan.
 - b. To buy as many bonds as possible through the payroll savings plan.
6. Advise me immediately whom you are authorizing in your organization to establish and carry out this program as your Bureau Bond Chairman.

I want this to be a thorough-going, person-to-person program.

7. Uniting the small investors in a formidable economic group.
(Formidable because millions saving regularly become extremely important in our economic program.)

Goal - 100% solicitation of employees on the Department's payrolls.
Tactical persistence by your bond organization to see that every employee who possibly can is urged to participate in the "Payroll Savings Plan" by allotting a portion of his income to his own "Future Security" and the "Security of the Nation".

MY PERSONAL REQUEST

1. Revitalize your bond organization.

2. Take a personal interest in this program.

3. Encourage your employees to participate.

4. Designate an effective Bureau Bond Chairman.

5. SEE THAT EVERYONE IN YOUR ORGANIZATION IS CALLED UPON TO TAKE A DECISION.

a. To participate in the payroll savings plan.

b. To buy as many bonds as possible through the payroll savings plan.

6. Advise me immediately whom you are authorizing in your organization to establish and carry out this program as your Bureau Bond Chairman.

I want this to be a thorough-going, person-to-person program.

1949 Edition of the Code of Federal Regulations

MAR 23 1948

PLEASE RETURN TO
SECRETARY'S RECORDS

Attached is a copy of a letter, dated March 11, 1948, received S. D. A. 1 from the Director, Division of the Federal Register, which refers to the publication of the 1949 edition of the Code of Federal Regulations.

In general, the 1949 edition contemplates no changes in the basic assignments to titles and chapters or in the system of numbering which is now used in the Code of Federal Regulations. As indicated in the attached letter, the principal changes will be reflected within the individual chapters and in the method of keeping the code current.

In order that those portions of the Code of Federal Regulations which are devoted to the Department of Agriculture may be correctly and conveniently printed in the 1949 edition, it is requested that each agency review the chapters which are applicable to its activities. New documents should be submitted to the Federal Register covering those chapters which have outgrown their original pattern and which are in need of a more or less complete revision as to internal numbering. Documents should also be prepared revoking obsolete regulations which have never been formally revoked. Text not in effect on December 31, 1948, should be eliminated. Missing portions of regulations not heretofore published should be published prior to December 31, 1948. Consideration should also be given matters which may require new patterns of codification.

In addition to the above, the Federal Register Division would appreciate receiving any general suggestions for improving the new Code.
General suggestions for improvement should be forwarded to this office not later than April 15, 1948.

Cooperation of the Department of Agriculture and Land-Grant

APR 13 1948

U.S. D. A. 1

A little more than a year ago the Department of Agriculture took steps to work out with the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities cooperative plans whereby the Department would benefit from the employment of qualified post-graduate students and post-doctorate personnel of these institutions and at the same time afford opportunities to such individuals for gaining research and other experience under the direction of the Department's scientific staff in Washington, Beltsville, and elsewhere. The proposal has received consideration by the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities and joint consideration by appropriate representatives of the Association and the Department. I am informed by Dean Thomas Cooper, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities, that the proposed cooperation was unanimously approved by the Senate of the Association. The agreement does not bind the Department or member institutions of the Association to any specific course of action; it only signifies the mutual conviction that such cooperation would be in the public interest, would advance the cause of agricultural research, and would prove helpful to properly qualified students.

Under this plan, qualified and acceptable applicants may be employed, in accordance with existing laws and regulations, by agencies of the Department having funds available for payment of all or part of the compensation of such applicants. The Department and individual institutions will agree in advance with respect to all matters of detail involving particular research and particular candidates.

I am asking the following persons to serve as a Committee on Internship Cooperation with the Department of Agriculture Graduate School and Land-Grant Institutions to develop suitable procedures for and to carry forward this cooperative program. Dr. Winters will serve as chairman of the Committee.

The Chairman of the Air Coordinating Committee, which was established by Executive Order 9781 of September 19, 1946, has called attention to an increasing number of instances in which a Federal agency constructs a facility of one kind or another near an airway with the result that the facility interferes with the use of the airway or vice versa. In some cases it has been necessary to relocate either the facility or the airway.

The Committee has established an Airspace Subcommittee, composed of representatives of the Department of the Air Force, the Department of the Navy, the Department of Commerce, the Civil Aeronautics Board, and the Federal Communications Commission. One of the principal objectives of the subcommittee is to reduce conflicts in the use of navigable airspace.

None of the above courses have been conducted exactly alike. The current committee members have assisted with planning, participated in, attended and evaluated all of the above sessions. After each course suggestions were made for changes in content, methods, materials, and procedure. In spite of this experimentation each succeeding group has been enthusiastically responsive. In all cases the participants have been unusually high in their praise of the value of this kind of training.

IV. Need for Expanding Committee

The current committee feels that the pilot workshops conducted to date have been so successful that the Department is now ready to step up the tempo of planning and conducting similar sessions, especially in the field. Two factors in carrying out this program stand out to date. First, the more good local leadership given to planning and conducting such courses the more successful they will be. Second, there appears to be a definite advantage to carrying out these initial courses across Agency lines. Participants get better acquainted with Department-wide programs. You get cross fertilization of ideas which adds hybrid vigor to the sessions.

In order to move forward gradually with a Department-wide program in administrative management training and to squarely meet the above two factors, the current committee recommends the expansion of the present committee to include the men listed on the attached memo.

In each case of the new members the agency head has been contacted and has designated the individual from his agency, subject to the Secretary's approval.

Proposals for State Legislation

FILED

JUN 29 1948

PLEASE RETURN TO RECORDS
U. S. D. A. 1

For the past several years the Department of Justice, in cooperation with the Council of State Governments, has acted as a facilitating agency in connection with Federal proposals for State legislation. Attached is a copy of a letter from the Attorney General, stating that the same arrangements will be in effect this year and referring to cooperative relationships which have been established with organizations of State and local officials.

The Department has cooperated in submitting a number of proposals to the States through the Department of Justice and the Council of State Governments. Our experience indicates that this channel is advantageous in many cases, particularly for model bills or matters with respect to which uniform State legislation is desirable. Most of the State Legislatures will meet in 1949.

Any proposals which agencies of the Department may wish to submit should be prepared for transmission to the Attorney General by the Secretary. The meeting of the Drafting Committee of the Council of State Governments on July 16 and 17, mentioned by the Attorney General, is a preliminary meeting and only a general statement of proposals need be submitted at this time. Detailed bills would then be drafted, with the aid of the Solicitor's Office and in consultation with State officials or other Federal agencies concerned. These drafts would be considered by the Drafting Committee of the Council of State Governments and, if approved, would be transmitted to the State Legislatures and interested State officials.

If an agency plans to submit any proposals, the general procedure to be followed should be discussed with the Secretary to the Administrative Council at an early date. Considerable time is required for consultation and clearance, so that work should be begun at once on any bills to be submitted.

Proposals for State Legislation

For the past several years the Department of Justice, in cooperation with the Council of State Government, has acted as a facilitating agency in connection with various proposals for State legislation. Attached is a copy of a letter from the Attorney General, stating that the same proposals will be in effect this year and referring to cooperative legislation which have been established with various States of State and local officials.

The Department has cooperated in establishing a number of proposals to the States through the Department of Justice and the Council of State Government. The experience indicated that this effort is advantageous in many cases, particularly in cases where matters of State legislation will meet in 1919.

Any proposals which originate in the Department are given to the Council of State Government for consideration to the Attorney General by the Department. The meeting of the Council of State Government is held on July 15, 1919, presided by the Attorney General. It is a voluntary meeting and only a general statement of proposals is given by the Department at this time. Detailed bills will then be prepared and the aid of the Council of State Government and in connection with the legislation by other Federal agencies concerned. These bills will be prepared by the Council of State Government and the Council of State Government and, if approved, would be transmitted to the State legislatures and interested State officials.

It is an agency which to submit any two bills, the general procedure to be followed should be discussed with the Secretary for the Council of State Government at an early date. Considerable time is required for consultation and discussion, so that work should be begun as soon as any bills to be introduced.

MEMORANDUM NO. 1219, SUPPLEMENT 1

Proposals for State Legislation

The Department of Justice has advised that the Drafting Committee of the Council of State Governments will meet in Washington on October 13 and 14 to consider proposals by Federal agencies for State legislation, with a view to approval of such proposals by the Council and their circulation to State Legislatures at sessions which begin after January 1, 1950. The Department of Justice asks that any matters to be considered by the Drafting Committee be submitted not later than August 15.

This procedure for developing proposals for State legislation of interest to Federal agencies has been in operation for a number of years and appears to be advantageous in a good many ways, particularly for model bills or matters with respect to which uniform State legislation is desirable. While the majority of State Legislatures will not meet in regular session until 1951, a number will be in session in 1950.

If an agency plans to submit a proposal, the general procedure to be followed should be discussed with the Secretary of the Administrative Council at an early date. The Solicitor's Office will assist in drafting bills. Considerable time is required for consultation with State officials and other Federal agencies concerned, so that work should be begun at once on any bills to be submitted.

MEMORANDUM NO. 1220

Preparation of an Agricultural Plan for the Missouri Basin

The Department of Agriculture will prepare a multiple-purpose agricultural plan for the Missouri River Basin. Under this plan the programs and activities of the Department relating to the development, utilization and conservation of natural resources will be integrated into a unified basin-wide program. This program will be designed to: Conserve and improve the lands of the Basin; build up and protect the forest resource; protect, enhance and develop the water resource; enlarge and improve the farm plant by irrigation and drainage; reduce flood and sediment damages; enhance recreation and wildlife; and otherwise support, complement and balance the programs of other agencies -- particularly the engineering activities being carried out under the "Pick-Sloan" plan.

The Missouri Basin plan will be developed by the joint action of the agencies of the Department. To insure coordinated action, a Departmental working group of representatives of the participating agencies will be established. This working group will prepare a work outline for the planning effort. This outline shall set out the various tasks to be performed in preparing the basin plan, and shall assign these tasks to the various agencies participating. Each working group member will act as leader and coordinator of the work done by his agency, operating under the direction of his agency. The working group will meet frequently to review progress and to insure coordination of planning activities. When the several agency tasks are completed, the results will be integrated by the working group into a unified comprehensive plan. The working group will then prepare a report setting out the plan, estimates of its costs, its anticipated physical, economic and social effects, and the joint recommendations of the group.

It is intended that the appropriate State organizations be given full opportunity to cooperate in the planning effort. The work outline will set out the general scope of cooperation. Cooperative arrangements for each planning task will be effectuated by the agency undertaking that task.

Provision shall be made in the plan for its periodic review and modernization.

Responsibility for general coordination and integration of the joint planning effort is hereby assigned to Ralph R. Will who is authorized to assign a representative to act as Chairman and Leader for the working group.

The joint planning effort shall be initiated as early in July as possible.

MEMORANDUM NO. 1226

Organization of Production and Marketing Administration

In consolidating the work of a number of programs and agencies into the Production and Marketing Administration, as a new organization in the Department, it was deemed advisable in Secretary's Memoranda Nos. 1118 and 1188 to prescribe more detail than is ordinarily necessary in defining functions of a going organization.

It now appears desirable to eliminate many of the detailed provisions of the previous memoranda and thus provide for more flexibility and effective handling of work within the Administration. This memorandum is issued for that purpose and to reflect changes considered desirable in view of the new Federal charter of the Commodity Credit Corporation. Otherwise than as required by the new charter, this memorandum does not change the functions or responsibilities heretofore assigned to the Production and Marketing Administration.

I Assignment of Activities

The activities assigned to the Production and Marketing Administration consist of the following four groups: Production Programs; Marketing and Distribution Programs; Price Support and Supply Programs; and administrative and other staff services incident to the preceding three main groups. Specifically, PMA is assigned responsibility for the following:

A Production Programs

1 The Agricultural Conservation Program and production adjustment programs, including farm marketing quotas and sugar quotas;

2 Supervision of the state, county and community farmer committee organization used in the administration of production and other Production and Marketing Administration programs requiring direct dealing with farmers.

B Marketing and Distribution Programs

1 Marketing service, inspection, grading, and regulatory programs as now assigned to the Production and Marketing Administration, as well as others as may hereafter be assigned.

MEMORANDUM NO. 1230

American Standards Association

The Department of Agriculture has for many years been a member of the American Standards Association and has participated in the work of the Association's committees in preparing standards. The standards promulgated by the Association have dealt with such things as uniformity of dimensions to insure interchangeability, concentration on the optimum number of types, sizes, and grades of products, specifications as a basis of purchase, methods of making acceptance tests for materials and apparatus, safety codes for the protection of workmen, building codes, traffic standards, and nomenclature, including definitions of terms commonly used in specifications and contracts.

Recently the American Standards Association has incorporated under the laws of the State of New York. Because of this, it has been necessary for legal reasons for this Department, along with other Federal agencies, to cease to be a member of the Association. It is not intended, however, that this fact should in any way affect the Department's cooperation with the Association in the preparation of standards. These standards have important benefits to the public and in many cases are of direct assistance in the conduct of the Government's work.

The persons who represented the Department on the Standards Council of the American Standards Association will serve as a committee to consider matters relating to standards which may concern the Department. In addition, representatives of the Office of Budget and Finance and the Office of the Solicitor will serve on the committee and the Secretary of the Administrative Council will serve as chairman. In order to provide for a coordination of Governmental standardization activities and to facilitate establishment of the Government's point of view in cases not otherwise provided for by law, there was recently established, under the patronage of the General Services Administration, Federal Supply Service, an Inter-Departmental Council in which interdepartmental problems of both national and international standardization will be referred. He will work closely with agencies of the Department concerned with the development and use of standards and draw upon them for consultation on technical problems relating to the work of the Council in order that Department-wide interests may be given full consideration. In order to create the basis for an exchange of information among the Federal agencies represented on the Council, any standardization activities within the Department which, in the light of Council concepts as outlined above, would be of interest to the Council and of benefit to the Government as a whole, should from time to time be called to Mr. Schemphorn's attention.

Further, in order to provide for a coordination between (1) the cooperative activities of the Department with the American Standards Association and (2) the work of the Interdepartmental Council on standardization, I am naming Mr. Schemphorn as chairman of the committee established in Secretary's Memorandum No. 1539. MEMORANDUM NO. 1233

central project file for

Coordination of Department Research, Marketing Service and Statistical Work

In order to implement and facilitate the effective coordination of research, marketing and statistical work, the uniform project system of the Department will be extended, effective at once, to provide a more intensive and informative central record on projects falling within these three categories of work. For purposes of greatest utility and reference this central record will be located in the Agricultural Research Administration, but will be readily accessible to other agencies of the Department, particularly those having a common interest in project coordination.

Such a centrally located, more informative record of all research, marketing and statistical projects currently being carried on will not only facilitate full coordination and provide a means for effective integration of related activities, but will also expedite the preparation, review and approval of new projects, and the answering of numerous inquiries regarding work in the Department.

The Department's uniform project system provides for the organization of the program and activities of the Department on a "financial", "work", and "line" project basis. It is now in operation extensively throughout the Department, and it is believed that this frame-work, extended and intensified where necessary or desirable, will provide essential basic information for the establishment and maintenance in the Agricultural Research Administration of the central record mentioned above.

Accordingly, it is requested that each agency head make available to the Office of the Administrator, Agricultural Research Administration, the following:

1. Three copies of project statements on all research, marketing service (including regulatory) and statistical work carried on by the agency on ~~June 30, 1948~~. Such project descriptions shall be submitted on a financial, work, and line project basis by December 1, 1948. If you find it impossible to provide all such information by that date, please submit that which is ready and advise the Agricultural Research Administration as to when the submission by your agency can be completed.
